

Energy Security Select Committee

Chris Jelly

Chairman & Member – Elham Valley Going Green

Biography

Chris is a Chartered Engineer of the Institute of Electronic & Radio Engineers (now retired). He has spent 34 years working for British Telecom, with his final position being senior manager of the Network Transmission Systems Integration Division. He spent eight years in British Standards as a Quality Assessment Client Manager for telecommunications companies. He has been a Member of Elham Environmental Group for seven years, and has been its Chairman for four.

Elham Environmental Group is a local environment and energy group, set up by residents of Elham. They implement energy efficiency and green energy measures in Elham, and provide information to the local community to encourage and support energy measures taken by local residents and businesses. They have held two Eco Fairs to showcase eco-technologies, and run Operation Energy Saver: a door-to-door information campaign. They are supported by Elham Parish Council, Kent County Council and the Kent Downs AONB.
