

Susan Carey has represented Elham Valley at Kent County Council since May 2005.

Susan has a background in transport and first came to Kent whilst working for Eurotunnel. She is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport and has an MBA from Ashridge Management College.

As well as involvement in community events in her County division, Susan is a trustee of two local charities; the Sir John Williams charity which supports education in Elham Parish and the Robert Thompson Charities which cares for the almshouses and village hall in Saltwood. Susan is also the honorary president of the National Coastwatch Institute in Folkestone and a friend of the Folkestone Choral Society.
